Clicking the event can render a popup (relative) showing details and potentially a map given the address of the location the event is at

Lets go for a 7 day week, Sunday through Saturday. Starting with a static layout of just one week. This will allow us to meet our deadline and create something more dynamic and expandable later on

This is a calendar module. We will most likely dedicate one whole backend app to rendering this calendar. Given times and dates.

Lets do this frontend only if possible
